"In every work that he began he did it with all his heart—and prospered."

ALMOST invariably business correspondence is very formal, somewhat cold and direct to the point, but now and then some breezy letter-writer who knows how to put a "kick" into letters, gets across his message and at the same time leaves the recipient feeling a little better for having received the letter.

For instance, here is a fellow up in Cincinnati, acknowledging a service rendered his firm by The News. "I'm back on the job with a limber chest, full of ginger and pep harvested in a tour of states that stretched from the Big Smoky Mountains in North Carolina's 'land of the sky' to Illinois' Michigan washed North shore near the Wisconsin line," he said.

"It's a great privilege—these annual periods of recreation," the writer continued, bubbling over with enthusiasm, so it appeared. It was so different from the usual plea of being hard pressed to "get caught up" and all that stuff.

LEE Caviness of Chicota, president of the Lamar District Fair, never gives up and never loses his enthusiasm. He is working hard to make the fair the best ever and is pleading with others to do the same.

Mr. Caviness is not only giving of his time, but he spends much of his personal funds that the fair may be made better. He deserves 100 per cent support from the people of the entire county. The fair is near at hand, opening Sept. 8. Let every citizen work for a bigger and better fair this year than ever before.

WHEN you have an idea for the betterment of Lamar county, pass it on the our chamber of commerce. Often it is the case that many good ideas are never put into action because they are not passed on. Our chamber of commerce is the center of activities and each citizen should contribute his ideas to the organization.

THE First Baptist church seems determined to build that new educational structure. A start has been made on the fifty thousand dollars needed and the fund is climbing toward the half-way mark.

There is a great deal in believing that a thing can be done. If the Baptists want this building and believe that it can be built, the success of the enterprise is assured. They already have the lot, the architectural plans and a sizeable sum of money.

A GOOD farmer-friend from down in the Cunningham neighborhood dropped in for a friendly visit. He said he would make as much cotton this year as he made last year; that his corn crop was average and that all he needed was a good cotton market.

"I'm not worried about making a living—what I want to do is to make some money," this farmer said. "I know I am going to make a living because I raise most of the things we use—we have enough garden stuff canned to last until another season and at our house we will eat, but farmers, like other folks, want to make more than a mere living." He was smiling, full of good cheer and was looking for and expecting better times. May his kind increase.

FARMERS' trades day brought hundreds of people to Paris Monday who would not have been here otherwise. The auction sale afforded the farmers an opportunity to turn into cash many articles for which they had no use.

Cotton Picking Fails to Check Sales Day Crowd

Despite the fact that many farmers of the Parisarea are busy picking cotton, a large crowd attended the August Farmers' Sales Day here Monday. Bidding at both sales, morning and afternoon was spirited, with a large variety of merchandise offered for sale. Merchandise sold included furniture, livestock, groceries, hardware and dry goods.

Monday was the sixteenth auction sale to be held here for the mutual benefit of farmers and business men throughout the Parisarea. Farmers throughout the county have expressed their appreciation of the auction sales and have made every effort to make them a success.

Joe W. Travis, chairman of the retailers' division of the chamber of commerce, has called a meeting of the retail merchants for Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the chamber of commerce to decide whether or not the auction sales shall be continued. All merchants who are desireous of continuing the plan are urged to be present, as it is planned to make the sales self-supporting if they are continued.

Compress Runs Today.

The compress expects to make the first run of the season Tuesday, compressing some new cotton and some that has been in storage for part of last season.

THREE ARRESTED IN REPUTED PLOT SLAY GOVERNOR

Charges, Counter Charges Reverberate As An Aftermath of Affair

THREE MEN MAKE BONDS OF $500

Publisher, Campaigner and Real Estate Man Charge 'Cheap Publicity'

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 18. Charges and counter-charges reverberated Monday as an aftermath of the arrest of three men in connection with a reputed plot to assassinate Governor Doyle E. Carlton of Florida.

Fred O. Eberhardt, publisher and editor of the Tallahassee State News; Frank Ralls, former political campaigner for Carlton, and Henry Halsema, Jacksonville real estate operator, were named in a warrant charging conspiracy to procure the assassination. They were arrested here Sunday night.

Before leaving his cell after posting $500 bond on the charge which is a misdemeanor in this state, Eberhardt declared the arrests "part of a political plot." The publisher, who has waged a continuous and bitter editorial campaign against the Carlton administration, termed the case "just a cheap bid for publicity."

Meanwhile, Sheriff W. E. Cahoon, whose deputy, C. E. Hooks, swore to the warrant accusing the three men, remained silent about details of the reputed plot. The warrant charged that the "trio, with divers other persons whose names are unknown" plotted to hire a gunman to kill the governor. While admitting that the investigation was going forward, the sheriff said he expected no more arrests.

J. C. Madison, justice of the peace, before whom the warrant was sworn, set the preliminary hearing for next Monday. He fixed bonds at $500 each. Halsema and Eberhardt made bond immediately, and Ralls was released from jail Monday night under bond of $500.

COMPANY DEFENDS $10 GAS DEPOSIT

Man Appears Before Council To Show Why Hike In Deposit Is Fair

Believing that a deposit of $10 in order to secure payment of gas bills is not too large, a representative of the gas company supplying Paris apepared before the city council Monday afternoon and gave reasons why the company required such deposit. At the last meeting of the council the solicitor had been instructed to draw an ordinance fixing $5 as the maximum deposit, and this was the reason the representative appeared. He stated that consumers had the use of gas 60 days before being cut off for delinquency and that in most instances $10 was not enough to cover the bill. He further said that there was no inention to increase the deposit of $5 already made by customers, who pay their bills, but

Clarksville Hit By Freak Storm Monday Afternoon

Special to The News.

CLARKSVILLE, Aug. 18.—A freak storm struck Clarksville at 5:45 Monday afternoon, lasting only a few minutes and followed by a heavy downpour, for about five minutes, the sky clearing almost imediately afterward.

Part of the roof was blown off the Clarksville Cotton Oil mill, several pieces landing on electric light and telephone lines, and cutting phone communication for a time.

Automobiles traveling the streets were blown by the force of the wind for some little distance, brakes apparently having no effect, but no damage was reported from this, and no one was reported hurt.

Rains in Drought Areas Cut 'Corners' Off Big Damages First Expected

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Recent rains in drouth areas on Monday led Secretary Hyde to say he believed the "corner" had been turned, and at the same time word came from the White House that President Hoover expects to name his national organization for relief this week.

The agriculture secretary also announced that southern railroads would put into effect emergency rates for the parched belts Tuesday. He said Western railroads were expected to take similar action in a few days. The rates, amounting to 50 per cent on livestock and feedstuffs, already are operating in the East.

Hyde was in a genial mood after a call at the White House. He jovially remarked in commenting on general rains that "the weather bureau had seen and done its duty." He said he believed the precipitation had taken the edge off the emergency.

President Hoover has been awaiting the shaping of state relief committees before designating the national organization but reports from the states have convinced him he can name its members before the week is out. The national committee will be composed of representatives of the Federal Farm Loan Board, the American Railway Association and the Red Cross, together with mem-

Mrs. Smith lived about 45 minutes but was unable to make a statement.

The coroner's verdict had not been returned late Monday.

Smith stated he had been to the store at Brenham and became alarmed when a telephone call to his residence failed of a response. He rushed home just as Ben came out of the house with the bloody axe.

Four Drown As Ferry Boat Tips; Including Baby

WESTMORELAND, N. H., Aug. 18. (AP)—Four persons, including a baby, drowned when a ferry plying the Connecticut river from East Putney, Vt., to Westmoreland upset and sank in midstream Monday night. There were two automobiles on the craft.

The drowned were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Austin, a young couple, and their year-old baby and William Clark, 60, all of Putney, Vt. The Austin family was trapped in their automobile as it slipped off the careening ferry. Clark was a foot passenger. Thomas Carpenter, another foot passenger, and Harry Price, driver of the other car aboard, swam ashore.

The ferry, an old fashioned type propelled by a cable which was pulled by hand from the deck, showed a decided list as it left the East Putney shore, due to the uneven balance caused by the automobiles being on one side. It tipped over in midstream.

Rigid Scrutiny Pro Staff Has Been Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—Prohibition Director Woodcock Monday served notice on the personnel of the enforcement service that its personal conduct is subject to rigid scrutiny and that misbehavior will be punished.

Returning to Washington after a two-weeks vacation he announced five-day suspensions had been ordered for two agents who became involved with motorists in quarrels over traffic rules.

One of these, Robert F. Myrtle of Milwaukee, attempted to arrest the motorist, William A. French, Woodcock said, and when asked for his authority drew a gun.

The other, Basil N. Quinn of Washington, D. C., struck the motorist after a quarrel over the right of way and took him to the police station, by which, Woodcock said, he exceeded his authority.

FERGUSON BEGINS LAST WEEK'S WORK IN GULF SECTION

Speaks at Lyons Park in Corpus Christi on Monday Evening

HE EXPLAINS HIS WIFE'S PLATFORM

Vigorously Attacks Ross Sterling and His Highway Bond Issue

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 18. (AP)—James E. Ferguson, campaigning for his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, entered the last week of the fight with an address before a section of the Gulf coast electorate massed in Lyons park here Monday night.

The former governor made his customary speech. He explained his wife's platform, calling for old age pensions, equity of redemption laws covering foreclosure and legislation making officers who drink bootleg liquor ineligible to hold their posts.

He vigorously attacked Ross S. Sterling, his wife's opponent, and took up again the well-worn cudgels against the Sterling-supported state highway bond issue proposal. He reiterated allegations against Sterling as an individual which he has made all over the state.

The region hereabouts nearly always has been kind to the Fergusons, and Ferguson was happy as he came back into familiar territory to begin the campaign's last march. He was in highly disputed territory, nevertheless, since the opposition has contended it will be favorable to Sterling, a Gulf coast man.

Ferguson was introduced by H. S. Singletary.

Before the speech making started, boys distributed big circulars bearing black streamer lines saying "Official Record Bares Ferguson Regime Scandals." The band blared, bringing in more auditors to join those already standing about the speaker's stand.

Meanwhile a telegram was received from Lieutenant Governor

TRIPPERS WILL ADVERTISE FAIR

Many Towns To Be Visited Next Thursday and Friday

A meeting of fair committeemen was held with President Lee Caviness Monday afternoon to hear reports and make further plans for the fair. It was decided to make a good-will tour of several automobiles in four directions out of Paris next Thursday and Friday. Leon Gilmore was named chairman of the committee in charge of this work.

The roads leading to the fair grounds and the fair grounds proper were treated with oil Monday, preparatory for the fair. Reports showed good progress on the new womens club building and on funds for this purpose. About $200 it was stated, will be needed to complete the structure.

Spaces in the main coliseum for exhibits are selling reasonably well but several spaces are yet available. Some exhibit space on the grounds has also been sold.

The full board of directors has been called for a special meeting to be held next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

Knights of Columbus Meeting in Boston

BOSTON, Aug. 18. (AP)—A colorful ceremony at the Boston Garden in which about 2,000 officers of Massachusetts councils were installed, formed a curtain raiser Monday night for the first business meeting of the 48th annual supreme convention of the Knights of Columbus Tuesday.

Several thousand delegates from all over the United States and its insular possessions continued to arrive Monday, which was devoted chiefly to sport.

Dusky Flappers Go Out In Bright Strolling Pajamas

A young Paris housewife gasped, rubbed her eyes, pinched herself and finally, after some moments, muttered a few unintelligible statements.

For there, parading down the street in all their glory, were two of Paris' dusky flappers, clad in strolling pajamas of colors such as only the mind of a daughter of Ham could conceive.

Enter flapper No. 1.

"She was clad in a pair of dark rose pajamas, with pongee waistband, bandera jacket and close fitting tan hat. The pajamas fit in the waist as tightly as discretion would permit, exhibiting to perfection the subject's Venusarian contours. The bottoms of the pajamas were about as large as a sailor's trousers, and her strut would have shamed a peacock," said the witness to the parade.

Follows flapper ...o. 2, about 30 seconds and one-breath-regaining later.

"Pajamas of pale pink, trimmed with blue constituted her major article of wearing apparel. She wore a middie blouse, likewise trimmed in blue, blue shoes and stockings that can only be described as 'loud.' Like her dusky partner, her pajamas were possessed of flowing bottoms, and the waist was none the less tight fitting," the witness concluded.

Verily, this is an age of strange happenings—and sights.

Marital Trouble Cause of Triple Slaying Monday

DEQUEEN, Ark., Aug. 18. (AP)—Refusal of his 24-year-old wife, Lillian, to return to him, led Ernest Arnold, 26, to shoot her probably fatally, kill her aged grandfather John Smith, 75, and take his own life here Monday.

After an effort at reconciliation which ended in a serious disagreement last night, Arnold returned to the Smith home this morning. Coming on his wife and her grandfather in the yard, he shot down Mrs. Arnold, swung the shotgun on Mr. Smith, sending a fatal charge through his chest, and again fired on Mrs. Arnold, later taking his own life.

Two Speakers To Be Here Tonight For R. L. Bobbitt

Announcement was made Monday that Frank Wozencraft, former mayor of Dallas, Maury Maverick of San Antonio, tax collector of Bexar county, will speak Tuesday night at 8 o'clock on the plaza in the interest of the candidacy of R. L. Bobbitt for attorney.

"The office of attorney general is more important than that of governor" Mr. Maverick said Monday night. "Of course, no one believes that, but it is a fact."

Mr. Maverick said he would talk Tuesday night on the "Bexar county political machine and the bogus poll tax racket and how it was broken."

ANDERSON FLAYS FERGUSONISM IN SPIRITED TERMS

Albert Sydney Johnson of Dallas Precedes Sterling's Address

Launching into the last week of his campaign in the run-off primary by making a wide swing made his third speech for the day made his third speech for the day here Monday night to a crowd of 7,000 on the south side of the plaza.

Mr. Sterling briefly discussed his bond issue plan, and replied to various charges of Ferguson.

Previous to Mr. Sterling's talk, W. H. P. Anderson, chairman of the Lamar county Democratic Executive committee, and member of the state executive committee attacked Fergusonism in spirited terms. After saying that the people had opportunity to choose between a man who had made a failure of everything and one who had made a success, Mr. Anderson introduced Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas, secretary of the state Democratic executive committee.

Mr. Johnson, after making a plea for honesty in government, immediately launched upon an attack of the Ferguson pardon record. He said that during the three terms of James E. Ferguson and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, there was a total of 6,528 pardons issued. Of this number, he said 3,737 were issued during Mrs. Ferguson's term. These pardons, he said, included 530 sentences for murder, 714 for robbery, and 210 for statutory offenses. He said that within the last 30 days of Mrs. Ferguson's last term, she issued 413 pardons. In these were included, 124 robbers, 127 liquor law violators, 133 murderers and 29 rapists.

"The women of Texas have an opportunity to wreck vengeance for this insult at the polls next Saturday," said Mr. Johnson.

Further reviewing the pardon record of the Fergusons, Johnson cited the case of William H. Langhorne, Jr., who was convicted on a charge of murder, and one criminal assault. Langhore was given a death sentence, but before sentence

SHIP GOES DOWN FOLLOWING SAFE TRANSFER OF 317

British Steamer Tahiti, In Distress Three Days, Lies in South Pacific

PAGO PAGO, Tutila, Aug. 19. (Tuesday). (AP)—The Matson liner Ventura arrived here at 1 p. m. today (2 p. m. Monday P. S. T.) with all passengers and crew of the steamship Tahiti which was abandoned and sank about 160 miles east of Rarotonga, Cook Islands.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Aug. 18. (AP)—The British steamer Tahiti, which had been in distress three days, went down in the South Pacific Monday after her 317 occupants, passengers and crew, were safely aboard the American steamer Ventura.

The Ventura immediately headed for Pago Pago, the American naval base in Samoa, to discharge its island passengers. Then it will go to San Francisco to land the Americans and Europeans.

After leaving Wellington for San Francisco, due there August 29, the Tahiti lost its starboard propeller and sprang a leak about 460 miles east of Rarotonga, Cook Islands. While the wireless sent out calls for aid and ships in those waters raced to the position, the large vessel drifted about 60 miles with a strong current before other ships came up.

The Penybryn, a Norwegian freighter, was the first to reach the disabled vessel but passengers

MID-AIR CRASH IS FATAL TO TWO

Two Flying Cadets of Kelly Field Are Killed in Monday's Mishap

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Two flying cadets of the advanced flying school at Kelly Field were killed instantly when their planes collided and crashed about three miles southwest of Von Ormy on Monday.

Cadets Robert Lee Scott, of Bethany, Ill., and Donald Dewitt Campbell of Anadarko, Oklahoma, both 23, were flying in a nine-ship attack formation at an altitude of about 300 feet as a regular part of the attack training. In making a "cross over turn," a difficult maneuver, Scott's plane collided with Campbell's and both plunged to the earth. The planes were demolished but did not burn.

Both students entered Kelly field in the July class from March Field, Calf. Scott was a graduate of the University of Illinois and was born in Florence, Alabama. Campbell had completed three years at Oklahoma University before entering the primary training school at March field. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. George C. Campbell, live in Anadarko.

SECRETARY DAVIS ADDRESSES VETS

32nd Annual Encampment of United Spanish War Vets Being Held

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18, (AP)—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis told delegates to the 32nd annual encampment of the United Spanish War veterans Monday that if the decision was left to the men who had been on the firing line, there would never again be an armed conflict.

Mr. Davis spoke at a union patriotic meeting at Independence Hall, a feature of the opening day of the encampment. He urged the veterans and members of two score other patriotic organizations to exert their influence for peace.

Several thousand veterans from all sections of the country and members of auxiliary organizations heard the addresses from seats under the trees around the historic shrine.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18, (AP)—Fifty-five survivors of the battle of Manila bay, members of Dewey Congressional Medal Men's association, received the thanks of the United States senate and house of representatives at exercises aboard Admiral Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, at the Philadelphia navy yard Monday.

The medal men are attending the annual encampment of the United Spanish War veterans.

A number of high naval officials were present when the formal expression of thanks for the victory of 32 years ago was voiced by E. Clinton Rhoades, former United States navy lieutenant. During the exercises it was recalled that the Olympia had seen active service in the world war and had been selected to bring back the body of the Unknown Soldier.

SHIP GOES DOWN

were not evacuated to it because of the limited accommodations, while no immediate danger threatened.

Monday the Ventura, which had raced hundreds of miles to aid the Tahiti, arrived alongside at 9:30 a. m. (local time) just as a bulkhead gave way and the passengers began taking to lifeboats. The 175 passengers first were launched upon the heaving ocean and although they were endangered in the heavy swell and by an approaching storm they were picked up by the Ventura without accident.

Meanwhile, the ship was listing badly, but the 142 officers and men remained aboard, pumping desperately to keep her afloat.

Reports from the Tahiti early Sunday said all aboard had taken to lifeboats before the arrival of either the Penbryn or Ventura, but later advices said an order to that effect had been countermanded. Wireless communication was difficult because of atmospheric interference.

COMPANY DEFENDS

that in cases where gas was cut off for non-payment and service resumed the $10 deposit would be required, and the same from new customers.

He made the point that his company, unlike a merchant, cannot select the charge customers but must serve everyone who applies and in order to hold loss to a minimum it had been found that a deposit of $10 was fair. This amount, he said, is required in all the 200 or more Texas towns served by the company.

The council took the matter under advisement to be acted on later.

An ordinance regulating boating on Lake Crook was read and copies will be made for the members of the council to study so it can be acted on at a later session.

A petition of sundry produce growers asking permission to sell their produce to other persons for resale on the market square was denied. All farmers growing produce may now sell it in the city without cost, but they are not allowed to sell to others who in turn sell on the market square, as this is considered unfair to merchants who pay rent uptown. It was stated also that these persons have been buying from others than growers and offering for sale on the market square and the police have had to warn them of the ordinance.

Petitions for street lights at Houston and Sixteenth and at Church and Paris Boulevard were referred to light committee.

Collier and Campbell were granted permission to operate a bus service from the Plaza to a carnival on North Main this week at a 5 cent fare.

The mayor reported that he had let Pattonville have a tank of water for an emergency which did not permit of waiting for a council meeting, and his action was approved and he was instructed to let other towns have water that need it under the usual terms.

The need for cutting the water lilies that are covering a large area of Lake Crook was discussed but no action taken.

Water department reported that 47,410,000 gallons of water were pumped during July with receipts of $6,193.40. Both pumps are in constant service now, Engineer Hicks reported and more water is being used than ever before.

Police department reported for July 54 arrests, with 42 convictions and 12 dismissals or acquittals. Receipts from fines were $244.10.

Engineer reported building permits of $4,325 for July.

BOBBITT ANSWERS

as while Bobbitt carried the southern part densely populated by Mexicans. He referred to his portion of the state as the "Allred white man's part."

"This is a direct inference that he carried the Texas counties where the white people live and that I only carried the counties populated by other than white people.

"I resent the statement that no white people live in the more than 100 counties that I carried in the first primary, such counties as Dallas, Harris, Bexar, El Paso, Galveston, Jefferson, McLennan, Nacogdoches, Tom Green, that block in the Panhandle and others in every section of the state.

"This is but another effort on the part of my opponent to inject into this campaign religious intolerance and to array class against class and section against section. This statement alone disqualifies him from serving as attorney general and is typical of his last desperate effort to stem the tide of votes now leaving him and coming to me. In his frantic effort to capture the office of attorney general and carry out his trade with James E. Ferguson he insults the people of Texas. The people have found out he is a political trickster, that he is running on a platform of sympathy and misrepresentation, that he is endorsed and backed by the political machine of Bexar county, certain members of which are now under indictment for issuing illegal poll tax receipts."

Bobbitt said Allred had been denounced by the Hill county bar for claiming he could not get a lawyer to introduce him when "as a matter of fact he did not ask a single lawyer to introduce him to his audience." "His sole claim to the office of attorney general is that he should have been appointed when General Pollard resigned because he ran second four years ago. It is a matter of public record that when he resigned as district attorney of Wichita county before his term expired that instead of recommending his opponent succeed him who ran second in that election, he secured the appointment of his own brother as district attorney at the hands of Mrs. Ferguson.

"He said at Waxahachie he paid for his advertising in the Ferguson Forum and that I got mine free. I have never had an advertisement in that sheet and Allred knew his statement was false when he made it. Did he pay for the editorial endorsement he received in the last issue with money or with promises?"

"He says I did not carry my home county. This is also false. I carried my home county twenty to one and now as a final insult he infers that the people in more than 100 counties are not white people because they did not swallow his misrepresentations and vote for him.

MAN SHOOTS

found his wife lying in a pool of blood. Smith said he then went in search of the negro but when he approached the negro, Ben turned on him and attempted to strike him with the axe. Smith then ran back into the house for his rifle.

When he returned to the yard the negro had taken refuge under the house. Smith stated he emptied the rifle at the negro, six of the shots taking effect.

The negro was dead when H. I. Reese, sheriff, arrived.

According to statements made by officials, the trouble between the negro and Mrs. Smith apparently started in the kitchen at the rear of the house where Mrs. Smith was working. Officials said there were indications that the negro had attempted to criminally assault Mrs. Smith before striking her with the axe.

The disarranged condition of the house indicated that Ben had chased the woman through several rooms before striking her with the weapon.

The woman was struck twice with the axe, officials believing Ben was stopped by the approach of Smith.

Ben was 70 years old and had worked for the family several months. He had never caused any trouble at the Smith home before Monday, Smith said.

Funeral services for Mrs. Smith will be held Wednesday at Brenham. She is survived only by her husband.

No threats or reprisals had been made against other negro residents of the Brenham community, officers said, and feeling which was running high with the first reports of the affair had died down Monday night.

AIR DERBY IS WELL UNDER WAY

Air Races at Chicago To Be Put Off Pending Good Weather

CHICAGO, Aug. 18, (AP)—Modern aviation bowed to the whims of weather Monday when executives of the tenth national air races announced that the non-stop air derby between Los Angeles and Chicago scheduled for August 27, may be flown on any except the first day of the races, which open at Curtiss airport August 23.

The day of the race will depend entirely on the weather, Wm. Dudley A. Steel, chairman of the derby, a government meteorologist and the five competing pilots constituting a jury to make the decision.

Aside from this change, executives announced that plans for the great air classic had progressed smoothly to completion. As six women pilots were soaring eastward from Long Beach, Calif., in the first of the seven derbies of the races an army of 500 workmen was finishing the business of converting the model Curtiss airport into a well regulated "city of the air."

Plans for a sky traffic control system unique in the history of navigation have been devised. One feature is the equivalent of a giant "stop and go" sign employing a white signal panel 45 feet by 25 feet, which operates in conjunction with a red neon light on the hangar roof.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 18, (AP)—Continuing their nip and tuck race for the lead in the national women's air derby, Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, Calif., and Margery Doig, Danbury, Conn., finished the third lap of the Long Beach to Chicago flight here Monday with less than five minutes elapsed time separating them.

Total elapsed time for the 400 miles of the race unofficially was compiled as follows:

Entrant	Elapsed Time
Mrs. O'Donnell	2:37:53
Miss Doig	2:42:23
Miss La Rene	3:37:37
Miss Morgan	3:38:33
Miss Stewart	4:29:49
Miss Barron	Undetermined

The fliers took off from San Diego, Calif., Monday morning, stopping at Calexico, 120 miles west at noon. They reported good flying conditions over the route traveled so far, but complained of intense heat over the desert between Calexico and the Arizona border.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Aug. 18 (AP)—Two pilots were here Monday night preparatory to a takeoff Tuesday in a race against time to Chicago. They were Jack Livingston of Aurora, Ill., and W. G. Moore of Kansas City, Mo.

Al Mooney of Wichita, Kans., and Earl Rowland also of Wichita entered in the race, had not appeared. Previously they had been reported in Brownsville.

The race was for Class B planes of less than 500 cubic inches displacement.

Marshall Field, Third, Marries English Heiress

LONDON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Marshall Field, 3rd, of Chicago, whose grandfather founded one of America's greatest retail mercantile enterprises, and Mrs. Dudley Coats, heiress through her soldier-husband's death to one of the many fortunes built by the great English thread manufacturing concern of that name were married here on Monday. Both civil and religious ceremonies were performed before most of their society acquaintances were aware the impending nuptials had taken place.

With his intended bride, the beautiful and popular friends of the Prince of Wales and other royalty, the young Chicagoan early today motored to the marriage registry at Marylebone. Eluding newspaper men after a hurried civil union the couple proceeded to the ancient church of St. Ethelburga the Virgin in the old Roman section of London, where a religious ceremony took place shortly after noon.

Pump Lead Into Cafe To Rout Out Vagrant

CHICAGO, Aug. 18, (AP)—Hundreds of passersby on busy West Madison street looked on Monday while a dozen policemen poured pistol and machine gun fire into a combination restaurant-saloon in a futile effort to rout a vagrant who han slain the proprietor during an argument. Tear gas bombs finally brought out the slayer who gave his name as George Hoffman, a Mexican. His victim was Isaac Protkin.

STERLING HERE

was passed his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

At this point, a heckler in the crowd shouted, "Hurrah for Ma."

"Wait one moment, my friend," said the speaker. "I wonder if you would say 'Hurrah for Ma' if that had been your daughter which William Langhore assualted?"

No more heckling was heard throughout the meetin.

Continuing, Mr. Johnson said that the parents of Langhorne gave a deed of trust to secure the payment of notes for $43,000 after the pardon was issued. As to the notes being in payment for legal services Mr. Johnson said that the civil suits referred to by Ferguson, were for $20,000 and that they were settled for $5,000. He also cited several other cases, among them being the Colliers at Wichita Falls, Lester Crawford of Dallas and Pat Holmes of Eagle Pass.

The speaker also attacked the highway department affairs during the Ferguson administration.

In discussing the life of R. S. Sterling, Mr. Johnson said that the charge had been made that Sterling was a rich man, but said that a rich man could best be judged by the way he had got his money and the way he spent it. "Ferguson has been unable to find any thing wrong with the way Sterling got his money," said the speaker, "and you know if there were any such thing, it would come out this year."

In speaking of the way Mr. Sterling spent his money, he said that for the last four years, Mr. Sterling has given his salary as chairman of the highway commission to the Confederate veterans home at Austin. He also told of Mr. Sterling establishing the Ross Sterling Jr., camp on the Gulf coast where poor boys from the cities of Texas are given a weeks' outing free of charge.

Mr. Johnuson also contrasted the cost of highway construction under the Ferguson administration, and during Mr. Sterling's term on the highway commission. He said that highway construction of identical nature in adjoining counties showed a decrease of two-thirds under the administration of Mr. Sterling.

Dr. Creed next introduced Dr. Frank Richardson, of First Methodist church of Paris. Dr. Richardson, introducing R. S. Sterling, said Mr. Sterling was a product of a christian country home. He said that the people of today need more business leadership in the administration of government affairs. In making a plea for honesty in public office, Dr. Richardson said, "Our government is gone, unless we elect men to office who are honest."

After recounting some of the facts pertaining to his life, Mr. Sterling took up the discussion of Fergusonism. He said that when he was appointed on the highway commission, the affairs of the highway department were in a deplorable condition. The department was in debt about six million dollars, and had only about $600,000 to pay it with. He said that some of the employes had not been paid for more than six months. Mr. Sterling also said that it has necessary for Rangers to be used to recover some of the property of the department.

"Jim says that my road bond plan is busted as bad as the ten commandments. I don't believe the ten commandments are busted. Furthermore, I don't believe Jim Ferguson knows the ten commandments. I know one, 'Thou shalt not steal'," said Mr. Sterling.

Following this, Mr. Sterling went into a short discussion of the road bond plan, in which he called attention to the fact that no governor of Texas could issue road bonds. However, he said that he believed such bonds would be issued sooner or later. He pointed out the fact that such bonds, secured by the gasoline tax, are issued in 33 states at the present time.

Replying to Ferguson's statement that his home contained 22 bathrooms, Mr. Sterling said that he did not know how many baths, Jim's "house of pardons" at Austin contained. "But" he said "Even if there are 100, there's not enough to rub his hide clean."

"Jim says they had to burn down the schoolhouse to get me out of the second grade. That may be, but I at least learned the difference between my own money and someone else's," said Mr. Sterling.

"I don't hate Jim personally, I just don't like the way he makes a living," he said.

Mr. Sterling said that at the meeting Monday at Denton, he learned that Jim Young of Kaufman was supporting him and expressed his appreciation of all the candidates who said they would support him.

He explained why he didn't resign from the highway commission by saying that if another "accident" were to occur to the state of Texas, he wanted to be on the commission to keep Jim Ferguson's hands off the people's money.

Mr. Sterling admitted that he had given large sums of money to various educational institutions but said that the $11,000 spent each year in giving young boys an outing at Camp Ross Sterling, Jr., was the best investment he had ever made. He stressed the fact that riches were only temporary and that it was the distribution of riches, rather than the possession of them that counts.

He closed with a plea for the voters to support a man "who don't know any better than to work for the people of the state, and one who knows his own money from that of the state."

Earlier in the day Sterling spoke at Denton and Gainesville.

Moody At Best As Speaks Before Crowd at Lufkin

LUFKIN, Aug. 18, (AP)—Governor Dan Moody invaded one of James E. Ferguson's so-called strongholds Monday night and was given a rousing reception by the thousands that thronged the streets inside of the courthouse.

He made an appeal in behalf of the boys and girls of the state, he said, that "Fergusonism might be defeated beneath an avalanche of votes from which it never would emerge."

The governor was at his best, in the opinion of newspapermen, and brought to confusion numerous hecklers, who cheered almost continuously for "Ma."

LOCAL LUMBERMAN IS ARGOTANE BOOSTER

W. T. Yarbrough of 1312 North West Nineteenth street, Fort Worth, Texas, for 28 years with the Wm. Cameron North Side lumber company, and at present assistant manager of the concern, recently told the Argotane company why he recommended Argotane, said Mr. Yarbrough:

"For the past three years, I suffered from constipation and a right case of indigestion and gas formations, no doubt caused by an inactive liver. It appeared that the constipation was getting worse all the time, and the indigestion was also growing on me. I realized that unless something was done my condition would become critical and it would be hard for me to overcome the disorders. I know that my liver was inactive and, hearing Argotane recommended as remarkably beneficial to stomach and liver, I began taking it.

"I will say that there is no medicine like Argotane. My constipation is just about a thing of the past. My liver seems to be in good shape again, and I can eat anything I want without a trace of indigestion or gas formation.

"I am only too glad to recommend Argotane to anyone suffering with stomach disorders, after seeing what it has done for me." Genuine Argotane may be bought in Paris at the Palace Drug Store.—Adv.

$18,675 RAISED FOR S. S. ANNEX

Baptist Members Pledge Money Toward $60,000 Educational Building

The sum of $18,675 was pledged toward the new $60,000 educational building for First Baptist church Sunday morning at the preaching service, when Dr. W. M. Wright, the pastor, asked for funds for the purpose.

The members of the church will be solicited during the week by the finance committee, which aims by Sunday to raise in cash and pledges at least half of the sum needed for erection and equipment of the new building.

Preliminary sketches by the architectural firm of Keir-Cramer of Dallas have been accepted by the building committee, and complete plans and specifications will be ready within the next two weeks.

At the end of that period, bids will be advertised for, and it is hoped that construction work can be begun within a few weeks and the building completed late in the fall.

The new structure will replace the two story wooden building which has served the church as Sunday school annex and educational building for a number of years past. The growth of the membership has necessitated the enlargement of the quarters needed by the Sunday school and the new building is expected to be large enough to care for the indicated growth for some years to come.

Uses Sermon Text In Old Testament

At the First Baptist church on Sunday morning, Earl Dale gave a solo "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me?"

The pastor, Dr. W. M. Wright, preached the sermon. "Building Memorials," taking for his text, the story of the Children of Israel after they had sinned against God.

"When they had asked forgiveness, God told them to go up to the mountain side and gather wood for a new house in which to worship Him. For seventy years they had been captives in Babylon and had been forced to be hewers of wood and drawers of water for their enemies.

"God has wonderfully blessed us as a people and as a nation, we have been highly favored, although we have grown arrogant, ungrateful, and very irreligious. It seems to me that our nation is headed for the rocks unless we stop our speed and give more thought and time to God. We are Sabbath desecrators, we are merely drifting along indifferent to the religious things in our lives.

"My conception of God is one of a father, who pities his children and while our heavenly father gives us only those things that are best for us, sometimes we wander so far away that it takes the chastening rod to bring us back.

At the evening service a duet numbir was given by William L. Crain and Lloyd Dale, "There's no Friend Like Jesus," and Dr. Wright again took a text from the story of the Children of Israel, and took the plague of frogs as his main theme.

Soul Is Subject of Lesson-Sermon

"Soul" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The golden text was from Psalms 63:5. "My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness: and my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips."

Included in the citations comprising the lesson-sermon was the following passage from the Bible: "And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them" (Matthew 15:30).

The service also embraced the following citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Knowing that soul and its attributes were forever manifested through man, the Master healed the sick, gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, feet to the lame, thus bringing to light the scientific action of the divine mind on human minds and bodies and giving a better understanding of soul and salvation" (page 210).

WOMEN TO ENLIST

rapidly as possible, and they will be expected to distribute literature and organize the women of their districts for Sterling.

Reports were made by chairmen in the city that a thorough canvass of their respective territory is being made, with the aid of their assistant chairmen and zone leaders, and arrangements planned for transporting the aged and infirm to their polling places on Saturday.

In his address Mr. Anderson declared that as the ruler of any people reflects the character, ambitions and ideals of the people they rule, it is up to the voters to choose in this race the type of leader they wish to represent them.

He declared that while the women of Texas were fighting for prohibition, Ferguson was allying himself with the brewery interests; that at the Democratic convention in 1916, Ferguson and two other men brought in a minority report opposing woman's suffrage; that during the time when the selective service act was being proposed, equalizing war service for rich and poor, Ferguson was opposing this measure also; that Ferguson attempted to place a German-American at the head of the state university; that he and his wife are now promising to release 2,000 convicts by pardon, if Mrs. Ferguson is elected. He cited Ferguson's organization of the American party, and his attacks at that time upon the Democratic party to which he has since reverted. Ferguson, he said, intentionally misleads the people by his statements against Moody and others supporting Sterling.

"On the one hand," Mr. Anderson said, "we have Sterling; an industrious, honest, fair dealing man, against whom his enemies can say only that he is a rich man. Raised on a farm, one of a large family, he made a success of his work, first on the farm, then in a store, banks and in his other enterprises, through his industry and integrity."

"On the other hand, the speaker said, is Ferguson, who has failed as a lawyer, and then as a banker, and as governor, was impeached. "Fergusonism isn't an experiment," he said "We've had it before and we know what it means."

Mr. Deweese, declaring that he had never made a political speech though he had been in politics most of his life, asserted that "I can see only two reasons why anybody votes for Ferguson; either they want a job or they want to get somebody out of the penitentiary." He quoted "Nations do not die of invasions, but of internal rot" and declared that that was what menaces Texas now.

Mrs. Wood in the course of her remarks, in which she praised Sterling, and pointed out that if Mrs. Ferguson is elected her husband would be the real governor, declared that if this comes to pass she "would feel like moving over across the river into Oklahoma for a couple of years."

STURGEON STUMPS WESTEX FOR STERLING

Special to The News.

WELLINGTON, Aug. 18.—Speaking here Saturday night in the interest of the candidacy of Ross S. Sterling of Houston for the Democratic nomination for governor, John F. Sturgeon addressed a crowd of about 2,000 people. Mr. Sturgeon was entertained by the family and friends of Senator Clint Small with a banquet before the address, and the Wellington band gave a concert just prior to Mr. Sturgeon's address.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Wilson, county superintendent of schools. After expressing his appreciation for the reception which had been accorded him by the people of Wellington and the family of Senator Small and stating that his choice in the first primary was their own West Texas candidate, he spoke for more than an hour along the same lines which he had followed in addresses in other Panhandle cities during the past week.

He emphasized the fact that James E. Ferguson would hold the reins of power without restriction or limitations if his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, were elected governor of Texas. He predicted that there were thousands of voters in Texas who would not support Mrs. Ferguson for the Democratic nomination.

Mr. Sturgeon is scheduled to speak at several West Texas towns during this week in the interest of Mr. Sterling's candidacy.

"His addresses have created quite a bit of favorable comment in towns in which he has spoken recently," Senator Small said Monday.

His knowledge of the Bible and ability to interpret the scriptures, together with his ability as a speaker, mark him as one of the oustanding Bible class teachers of the state.

"Be it further resolved that our prayers for his success and happiness and for his continued service in the master's work be given to Brother Johnson and his family and that a copy of this resolution be furnished to him and to the local press.

MACHINE SUPPORT DENIED BY ALLRED

Attorney General Candidate Makes Appeal to Fair Mindedness

WACO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Answering charges that he had sought machine support, James V. Allred, candidate for attorney general, exhibited a map which he claimed demonstrated R. L. Bobbitt, also a candidate for attorney general, carried every machine controlled county in Texas.

"I assert that all of these charges, all of this abuse and propaganda are a cloak behind which to hide the fact that the present appointed attorney general was repudiated by the people of Hill county, where he was born and raised, and where he spent the major part of his life," Allred said.

"When my opponent and his emissaries come to you questioning and challenging my honor and integrity, may I appeal to the fair-minded people of Texas to apply this test in that regard, to ask them this question: 'If James V. Allred is the type of man that you try to picture him, how is it that the people where he was born and raised gave him a vote of confidence of sixty to one against the present attorney general?

"If Allred's opponent is the type of courageous and wonderful man that he is pictured, why did the people of his home county repudiate him and return a majority for Allred on July 26th?"

BOBBITT ACCUSES ALLRED OF TRICKS

State Attorney General Speaks at Pittsburgh In His Campaign

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 18. (AP)—Robert Lee Bobbitt of Laredo, State Attorney General, in a campaign speech here Monday in the interest of his Democratic nomination for the office he holds, accused his opponent James V. Allred of Wichita Falls of resorting to political promises in his quest for votes.

"He tried to arouse and develop sectional prejudices while I stand for a just, fair and definite statewide policy which is understood and appreciated by Texans who have had experience with me in administration of this policy," Bobbitt said.

Touchng on Allred's reference to having carried Hill county, in which Bobbitt was born, the speaker said the Hill county bar association's criticism of Allred's tactics was self-explanatory.

"He said he carried Hill county but didn't explain that I carried the county in which I have lived the past sixteen years twenty to one; Travis county, where I practice law for the people of Texas, by four thousand majority and Bexar county, where I had a law office, by 8,000 majority," Bobbitt said.

Wild Gusher In Oklahoma Tamed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 18. (AP)—The latest fire menace to Oklahoma City south lying suberbs and industrial sections was choked Monday by workmen who shut in the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalty Company's Number 2 Houser gusher after it had blown wild 25 hours.

Cement pumped into the hole at high pressure killed the well, enabling workmen to remove connections. The well, developed a cellar leak sunday, oil and gas from between the 6 and 9 inch casings escaping in clouds which rolled close to the ground, enveloping nearby dwellings and small business houses. It was believed the leak was due to a break in the cement at the bottom of the six inch casing.

FROM HILL TO VALLEY

OTTO H. Kahn, widely known financier, in a letter dealing with some phases of the present period of depression, makes the following statement:

"The two very worst counsellors in any situa- be swayed by the former. Too many of us now are spring and summer of 1929, permitted ourselves to be swade by the former. Too many of us now are being impelled by the latter. The sooner we stop talking one another into a blue funk, spreading the contagion of exaggerated apprehensions and thereby undermining confidence and laming enterprise, the sooner we shall pass out of the shadow of the present emergency.

"That does not mean inaugurating a sunshine movement or indulging in the futile pastime of whistling to keep up our courage. Neither does it mean shutting our eyes to the facts or beguiling ourselves or permitting others to beguile us, with illusions or delusions. It means simply preserving our sense of proportion and maintaining steadiness of nerve as becomes a great people."

He goes on to demonstrate that consumption and production in many lines appear to be reaching a stage of reasonable equilibrium over the country and concludes:

"I will not venture upon an estimate as to the time when our present business depression will have completed its allotted course and the elements making for the return to normal conditions in America will have asserted themselves effectively. Meanwhile, it is well to recall that we have been through similar periods of test and trial before and that the best guide for forecasting America's future is America's past."

While declining to commit himself to an opinion as to the length of time the depression will last, Mr. Kahn by inference warns the calamity howlers that they are doing nothing to promote a return to normalcy and that weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth over the good-old-boom-times will not pull the country out of the financial tight hole.

WHAT THEY WOULD HAVE SAID

THE thought frequently comes to many of us, as we think of the old people we knew 25 years ago, what they would have said could they have seen conditions as they are now. As they looked out on their quiet streets, in which their family horses jogged along toilsomely toward their goals, what would they have said if they could have seen the motorized age, with people darting through the streets at railroad speed?

The last quarter of the 19th century developed wonderful inventions. But it seems doubtful if it could be compared with the marvels of the first quarter of our century, with its automobiles, its radios and its airplanes.

The effect of automobiles has been one of the most far-reaching changes in the history of society. It has pulled people out of their stationary habits, and given them a free range of movement. It enables people to have homes in the country and work in the cities and towns. It has saved country neighborhoods from decay. At the same time it does make many people restless, and little inclined to settle down and work as the faithful old timers used to do.

It must be the mission of the years immediately ahead to give these people who have acquired added power, a truer conception of aims and purposes. They must be shown knowledge, intelligence and interest in the good causes of the time. With enlightened motive added to increased power, then we shall see rapid advance in social welfare.

THE ROADSIDE SHRINE

FATHER Coughlin, radio preacher of Detroit, is responsible for the building of a magnificent monument of the crucifixion on the 400-foot highway that runs west from Detroit. He means it to stand as a shrine of tolerance. It is costing a quarter of a million dollars. Father Coughlin, with only 32 families in his parish, broadcasts over a national network to millions. It is said his invisible radio parish contains seven million people. He gets 14,000 letters a week. From the top of the towering shrine a million watt beacon will shine out into the night.

THE WHOLE ANSWER

SPEAKING of social problems that confront the world, H. W. McDavid, international president of the Kiwanis club, tells the whole answer when he says that "our big job is to find ourselves in the program and see the part we can play. Just as laws can not cure all the economic ills that beset the world, so the laws in themselves can not remedy our social problems. We must appreciate our responsibility as citizens of society to accomplish that."

Who's Who—Timely Views

BUSINESS SLUMP BELIEVED TO HAVE AFFECTED IMMIGRATION

By Harry E. Hull
Commissioner of Immigration

REPORTS of business depression and unemployment in the United States which reach Europe are probably holding back prospective immigrants to this country to some extent.

On the other hand, many immigrants come here to be with relatives and in certain European countries the numbers seeking admission to this country are as large as ever, such as Germany, Italy, and the Scandinavian countries.

In reference to a recent dispatch from England stating that unemployment in the United States is responsible for the fact that there is no one on the waiting list for Scotland as compared with about 53,000 who were seeking to enter the United States at this time last year, I might state that unemployment is not the chief factor. The lack of a waiting list is due to the quota for Great Britain being about twice as large as it was a year ago.

The adoption of a policy of selective immigration, whereby this country will be able to choose only those aliens who can fill industrial needs here, would be an important step in combating unemployment. At present aliens come into the United States and enter industries, professions and occupations that are already overcrowded, although others who are actually needed in some line of endeavor are unable to get in because they must put their names on the waiting list along with all other quota immigrants.

There is undoubtedly unemployment in certain instances and localities. But reports as to the amount of unemployment may be exaggerated, for the bureau of immigration has recently found that it was necessary to import lumberjacks from Canada into Maine. The lumbering interests complained that there was insufficient labor in this country, and that the lumber industry as well as associated industries would be seriously affected if the bureau did not permit workers to come in from across the border.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

SECOND IN COMMAND

From the Abilene News-Reporter:

WHILE the Sterling-Ferguson race will dominate the run-off primary, don't let Texas forget for a minute the importance of nominating the right man for lieutenant governor. In the history of the states it has happened many times that the lieutenant governor became the governor—and filled the place more acceptably, and with more credit, than had his predecessor. For example, right here in Texas, the elevation of Will Hobby, following the impeachment of James E. Ferguson.

In the coming primary we have two candidates for lieutenant governor. One is Sterling P. Strong, of Dallas, an elderly ex-traveling salesman with no legislative background, but only the record of having briefly attempted to win a seat in the United States senate as the enthusiastic champion of the Ku Klux Klan. The other is one of the soundest men in Texas, Edgar Witt of Waco.

STOPPING A SILLY FAD

From the Denison Herald:

THE newspapers of Florida have done their state a real service. They have announced that they will give no publicity to tree-sitters "unless they fall out of the trees and break their necks." Very few would willingly comply with this requirement to get publicity, though some people, it would seem, would almost go that far. As a result of the newspapers' refusal to give publicity there will probably be a decline in tree-sitting in the Everglades state.

Tree-sitting is one of the silliest of the many silly fads which have swept the country in the past few years. In the first place, it requires no physical prowess to climb up into a tree and sit there. The "hero" is provided with food and drink by admiring friends. It requires no mental capacity. There is no contest about it except as a matter of endurance.

The newspapers are largely responsible for the spread of fads. Whenever anybody eats more bananas or drinks more iced tea than anyone else in a given community, he is hailed as a "champion" and gets his picture on the front page. Others take up the fad and gorge themselves in order to get the same publicity. And all such publicity is worthless. It is not news and ethically, it is not good journalism. It aids and abets a certain type of people in making themselves ridiculous.

It would require some real nerve for a boy to fall out of a tree and break his neck in order to get his name in print. He wouldn't enjoy reading about it after it had happened. Therefore the newspapers of Florida will print no more news about tree-sitters. And the readers of Florida newspapers will be no worse off for this lack of human interest.

WOMEN AND FARMERS

From the Arkansas Democrat:

SECRETARY of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde has epitomized one of the profound truths about the farm situation in this wise-crack:

"The women are losing their waistlines and the farmers are losing their shirts."

Once we were a nation of heavy bread eaters, but even with all the sandwich counters with which the land is dotted we eat considerably less bread than before the war, we are told.

Even if true, why lay such heavy stress on the claim that the passing of the ladies' waistline is the principal causes of this era of national fasting? What of the man of the house? Is he also losing his waistline? Not so that the casual observer can notice it.

Of course, there is some potency in the claim that there is less demand for wheat as the result in the change of habits of the majority of Americans. But why do those who so argue overlook a few accompanying facts such as the decline in growth of population, the increased acreage, the tremendous surpluses, the decrease in purchasing power and the like?

A Buffalo man who tried to smuggle in a quart in two-ounce bottles was fined $5 for each bottle. The plan cost him $100 instead of the five he would have paid otherwise. In this life, it's the little thing that counts.—New London Day.

ANOTHER DROUGHT SUFFERER

Guiding Your Child

PLAYING BABY

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Five-year-old Debby was sent to spend the summer with Aunt Jane. Since at home she had been a model child it was with some concern that Aunt Jane saw her revert to the habits of babyhood.

She sucked her thumb when no one was looking and the enuresis of which her mother said she had been broken at three occurred again as a regular thing.

It took nearly two weeks to bring about a return to normal behavior. Aunt Jane did not confine herself to the routine methods of dealing with these difficulties. She understood that Debby, who had been at home the center of devotion from both parents, must feel lonely, that she must miss the great amount of love and attention to which she had been accustomed.

She therefore tried to make up to her for the things of which she had been so suddenly deprived.

Children who are forced to make drastic adjustments frequently revert temporarily to the comforts of their babyhood. Definite training of course helps in counteracting this tendency, but the child's emotional difficulties must also be reorganized and met during the period of adjustment.

There are all sorts of situations which subject children to unusual strain of this sort. Parents suddenly beset with serious worries, a new and unskillful nurse, the death or going away over a period of time of some member of the family on whom the child is emotionally dependent—all these may cause a real disturbance in his behavior.

During such times we must not be surprised if he plays baby. We must be ready not only with wise discipline, but also with help and sympathy while he is learning to adjust himself to the new situation.

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By Mark Barron.

NEW YORK, (AP)—Joe Cook, the comedian, has a small son, Leo, who is quite an acrobat.

His stunts are all the more amazing when one considers that he is only five years old.

Like his father, Leo is a humorist as well as an acrobat. The other afternoon he was entertaining a group of visitors by standing on his head on the beach. Time after time he put his head into the sand and hoisted himself up.

Finally, Marc Connelly, the man who wrote "Green Pastures," asked him:

"Leo, why do you keep standing on your head? You are getting your hair full of sand."

That was the question Master Leo had been waiting for and quickly came his answer: "Well, sir, it keeps the moths out of my hair."

Shavian Wisdom.

When news dispatches from London told that Bernard Shaw had been revealing some of his family skeletons, it shocked Shavian enthusiasts considerably. Among other things, Shaw said that his father was something of a drinker.

It was difficult to understand why he should uncover this family history, but an enterprising New York journalist seems to have discovered the secret.

There has just been published a book by some gossiper giving many little known incidents in Shaw's life. It was the publisher's hope that the scandalous items would increase the sale of the book and cause an outburst from Shaw.

It seems that Shaw heard about the forthcoming book, so gave the interview revealing all the scandalous items in the book.

Now, it is said, the publishers are hesitating about bringing out the book as Shaw has spilled their best sales items.

Your Guess.

Along Butterfly Way, where Broadway night clubs are congregated, acquaintances are very casual and very brief. Couples spend a whole evening together and never know each other's names.

The other evening one New Yorker dropped into a night club. He saw a man and woman whom he knew sitting together at a corner table and he nodded to them. The New Yorker had just taken a seat at another table when a waiter brought him a note. It was from the escort of the girl at the corner table.

The note read: "For goodness sake who is this girl I'm with?"

The business man who lives in a furnished apartment now may also work in a furnished office—furnished completely from stationery to stenographers.

Whole floors of fully equipped offices are now available in Wall street buildings. Tenants are spared the worries of office routine. Each floor operates as a unit, with switchboard, reception room and its own supply of stenographers.

Backward Glances

By A. W. NEVILLE

Building materials, or lumber at least, were not expensive seventy years ago in this section, and there were several mills cutting the pine that abounded. Advertisements of these mills in the Clarksville Standard of March, 15, 1856, include:

W. R. Caton, at his mill 10 miles north of Clarksville, said that he had 300,000 feet of seasoned lumber on hand for building. He had recently purchased an extensive pinery and guaranteed quality and price. He offered square pine lumber at $1.25 and sheathing plank at 75 cents.

Condict & Simpson advertised their mill, formerly owned by Cicero Brown, two miles northeast of "Daingerfield in Titus county". They had 100,000 feet stacked and were cutting from three to five thousand feet a day. They also offered to sell the mill and land, including 958 acres on which was a good pinery. They operated a grist mill in connection.

James Gilliam advertised that he had bought the interest of Henry Rhine in the James Gilliam & Co., steam saw mill, 12 miles northwest of Clarksville, where he had 300,000 feet of seasoned lumber. He offered square pine lumber at $1 per hundred, "cash or wheat"; walnut at $3, birch at $3 and sheeting lumber at 50 cents.

Of a different tenor was an advertisement of William M. Lightfoot of Bonham who offered for sale a "Valuable Plantation and Negroes". He said: "Wishing to change my business I now offer for sale one of the most valuable plantations in northern Texas, together with 24 likely negroes. It is a healthy situation, lying on Red river 12 miles northwest of Bonham, has a good sandy road leading to it from town, good at all seasons of the year. The tract contains about 3000 acres, most of which is in the bottom but above overflow. There are upon the place a good frame dwelling place with six rooms, good lot outhouses and large frame barn two stories high in a picketed horse lot watered by two never failing springs. Four hundred and twenty acres under cultivation and a good gin house, springs of good water fine well and excellent cistern. The land well timbered."

Mr. Lightfoot offered this plantatoin "at a bargain" and invited prospective buyers to call and see it.

Diet and Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D., Author of "THE HUMAN BODY"

The fall type of hay fever is caused very largely by the pollen of members of the ragweed family.

Dr. Clendening

Most people who have it think it is due to golden rod. But this is an erroneous notion. They have, however, a basis for their belief.

The plants whose pollens cause hay fever, either in the spring or fall, usually have very inconspicuous or no flowers. Their pollen is wind borne. They shed a great deal of pollen, which is blown away in the wind and settles on the other plants. It fertilizes only those plants of its own species, of course, but it lights on all plants.

Thus, because the golden rod has a bushy, fluffy flower and blooms at the time of the ragweed pollenation, it catches a great many of the ragweed pollen grains. Therefore, as a hay fever victim gets near some golden rod, smells it, or passes a cluster while riding past, some of the ragweed pollen blows off it and affects the nose and eyes, etc., of the victim.

The ragweed deserves its name. It has ragged leaves, and once seen can never be forgotten. The "flowers" are small, hard, greenish globules, the pollen, when ripe, is yellow.

It grows very abundantly in vacant lots, beside roadways, and along railroad tracks.

Other members of the family which cause hay fever in the autumn are sage and cockleburr and pigweed.

It has always been a source of wonder to me that the hay fever victims do not form an association in every city in the United States. They could raise an annual fund which would allow them to employ a gang of men to go all over the outlying district and cut the ragweed down. This could be done in July and early August. Once well cut, the plant could not flower, and hence would not pollenate. If the cutting was done over a wide enough district, it would certainly reduce the amount of hay fever a great deal. By widespread cooperation between neighboring cities it might almost eliminate it.

The cost of such an undertaking would be infinitesimal to each member of the group. About one-fifth of his annual doctor bill for hay fever.

The annual economic loss from hay fever is incalculable. There are estimated to be about 10,000,000 people in the United States affected by it. Every one of these people is partially incapacitated for from six weeks to two months every year. Some of them are wholly incapacitated. Contrasted with this, the amount of money to be expended on a ragweed destruction campaign is infinitesimal.

Furthermore, the ragweed is thoroughly useless. It is not even decorative. Its destruction would be a cause of infinite rejoicing. It really is a duty of government to make an effort at its extinction, provided private associations can not be formed.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening cannot diagnose or give personal answers to letters from readers. Where questions are of general interest, however, they will be taken up in order, in the daily column. A WASHINGTON BYSTANDER

By Kirke Simpson.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—When the first regular session of the 71st congress shut down July 3 it is a notable fact that none of the "four horsemen" of republican house management was on the job.

Longworth, Tilson, Snell and Will Wood were all elsewhere.

Which has called to the mind of a press gallery friend the fact that one of the most bashful and retiring men in the house is nevertheless one of its most important members.

He is Carl Mapes of Michigan, who wielded the speaker's gavel at adjournment.

He is so reticent about himself that the only matters of note he found to put in his congressional biography were that he was married, had three children and had been elected "to the 63rd and succeeding congresses."

Yet Mapes usually is called to the speaker's chair whenever Speaker Longworth is necessarily absent at a critical time. The house membership generally seems to like him and respect his parliamentary knowledge and his fairness. He does not have much trouble as acting speaker.

Deputies.

Curiously enough that closing session of the house found three Michiganders acting as sort of deputy horsemen.

Michener pich hit for Tilson as majority leader, while Crampton covered the vitally important rules committee job for the absent Snell of New York.

Add Purnell of Indiana, filling in as appropriation committee boss in the absence of his colleague, Will Wood, and you have a complete deputy set-up to carry on with house leadership methods.

All are house veterans and republican regulars, of course.

Yet the odd thing about this deputy set-up is that three of the four, Mapes, Michener and Purnell, are rather close-mouthed men.

They are a greatly relied on trio in house management but not very often active in debate.

Crampton is. As committee watchdog of interior department appropriations he has had rows galore with senators.

Probably his name has got into senate debates in recent years about as often as any other house member for that reason. Heavyweight senate verbal artillery has bombarded him time and again; but produced no visible result. Maybe he enjoyed the resulting publicity. At any rate, he kept right on Cramptoning.

Revolt Forecast.

No one can deny that the "four horsemen" or "big three" house management arrangement further developed and efficiently operated by Messrs. Longworth, Tilson and Snell has rolled selected legislation through that body at amazing speed.

It is machinery devised to replace the czarship of the speaker, overthrown in Uncle Joe Cannon's day.

But a veteran of house and senate, now just official onlooker at proceedings, so to speak, told the Bystander that sooner or later a revolt would break out.

"The house will never long tolerate arbitrary control by a handful of men," he said, with three decades of congressional experience to support his view.

The committee, under the organization outlined at the White House conference last week, will co-operate with state organizations in relief work.

The Virginia drouth relief committee, the first state group to be named, conferred with government officials today and proposed that the estimated 75,000,000 bushels of wheat held by the grain stabilization corporation be made available to stricken farmers for livestock feed. The group was headed by Harry F. Byrd, former governor.

This, Byrd contended, would help toward increasing the price of wheat and would benefit farmers who need feedstuffs for stock.

The Virginia group also urged that temporary suspension of payments due farm loan banks be considered.

The weather bureau said rains had given "substantial relief" in many sections. Additional rains were forecast for tonight and tomorrow in the wide territory between the Mississippi river and the Rocky Mountains.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, told President Hoover Monday only a few appeals had been received from dry sections. He said, however, he believed an expenditure of $5,000,000 would be necessary later for relief.

Indians Go Eleven Innings To Beat Panthers 10-8

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP)—San Antonio fought 11 innings to defeat Fort Worth 10 to 8 in the third and final game of the series Monday. The Indians piled up an early lead over the Panthers, but saw it drift away in the late innings. Crafty relief pitching by Henry Thormahlen held the Indians while the Cats rallied to knot the count, but faulty defensive work cost him the game in the eleventh.

CUBS BUILD UP LEAD AS DOWN PHILLIES 17 TO 3

Take Third Straight In Series; Have Three and Half Game Margin

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—The Cubs accomplished more constructive work on their job of building up a lead in the National league pennant battle Monday, mauling Philadelphia, 17 to 3, for their third straight in the series, and giving them a three and one-half game margin over the Brooklyn Robins who lost to Pittsburgh.

Perce Malone hold the Phillies to eight hits and accounted for his fifteenth victory of the season.

Hack Wilson slammed out his forty-second homer of the season to open a six run rally in the eighth, and was only one circuit drive away from the league record set last season by Chuck Klein of the Phillies who saw the drive sail into the bleachers. Malone also hit for the circuit getting his with a man on in the fourth.

Yanks Club Out 11 to 4 Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Aided by some timely hitting on the part of his teammates, Herb Pennock won his tenth game of the season Monday as the New York Yankees clubbed out a 11 to 4 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Pennock was hit hard, but as usual was stingy with blows with men on bases and he did not give a base on balls.

Bartell's Double In Ninth Sends Winning Run In

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 18. (AP)—Dick Bartell's double to deep left in the ninth with the bases loaded sent Paul Waner and Adam Comorsky across the plate with the runs that gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4 to 3 decision over Brooklyn Monday.

Preceding Bartell's dramatic hit, Glenn Wright had sent Brooklyn out in front by one run when he slammed out a homer in the first half of the ninth.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug 18. (AP)—Betty Nuthall, with a bright red band around her head and all her strokes in beautiful control, led a parade of favorites through the opening round of the forty third national women's tennis championship on the turf of the west side stadium Monday.

Playing her first match in the United States since she was upset by Mrs. Molla Mallory in the quarter-finals of this event last year, the English challenger turned back Louise McFarland of Pasadena, Cal., 6-0, 6-1, in a one-sided encounter that lasted less than half an hour.

THE STORY OF A GIRL WHO DESERVED TO WIN

CHAPTER 53.

She considered a moment. Would that be unfair to Madge and Aunt Jennie? She was sure they would approve, for they both held Don in such high regard. Already, she liked him very much, herself. He reminded her so much of Winfield—she checked her thoughts.

"Very well—if Madge hasn't planned something else," she agreed.

"I'll see that it's canceled, if she has," he laughed, delighted that she had agreed to his plans.

Someone produced a mandolin and some ukuleles and the crowd sang for an hour, everything from "Sweet Adeline" and "Moanin' Low" to "Sunny Side Up" and "Should I?" Don stayed at Clara Dee's side, whispering affectionate remarks between choruses, watched her lovely face, as she sang.

He came for her next day in a high-powered green roadster, and they drove to Smith's Dam at the river, changed to bathing suits at the nondescript shack which served for a bath house. Clara Dee swam as she danced, gracefully and easily. She could dive as well as Don, did the swan dive and jack-knife perfectly, to his delight and admiration. They raced against the current and drifted down. He won with his strength rather than his greater skill. She was glad that she had learned something during those purposeless years. She had at least learned to be a good sport where pleasure was concerned.

"You are wonderful!" he enthused, when they had climbed to the grassy bank to rest. "And you ride, don't you?"

"Yes, indeed!" with enthusiasm. I love to ride!"

"And dance like a professional, play tennis and golf—have your own mount, or did have, speak French better than most people do their own native tongue—come, tell me all about it. You don't know what a pleasure it is to meet a girl like you! Why, do you know that the majority of the girls around here have never been in a lake or river, would drown instantly if they tried to swim and—horrors—to wear a one-piece bathing suit like yours—never!"

She laughed gaily. "Poor things—they miss a lot of life after all, don't they?"

"Yes, but I suppose if they are content—that is happiness. But you see, I've had the good or ill fortune, I don't know which, to taste the variety of life, yet I'm compelled to remain here where my interests are and probably always will be. Not that I couldn't find those very pleasures here. The problem has been, someone to share them. I had despaired until—" he looked at her as if seeking her consent to go on.

She was making a chain of clovers and offered him no encouragement. He moved closer and layed his big brown hand over her two slender white ones.

"Clara Dee—" his voice lowered with earnestness. "You know I've loved you ever since the first moment I saw you. I know I'm not good enough for you—that my life isn't your life—that it isn't fair to ask you to hide away here, but—isn't there some way—perhaps if you would tell me about yourself—"

She felt a sudden desire to make him happy. She pitied him in his loneliness for she knew what it was to be lonely, to be without sympathetic companionship. He was so fine and worthy of what he wanted—but, she could feel other eyes imploring her, commanding her—"There isn't much to tell, Don. My father was a very wealthy man; but when he died, almost a year ago—he left me nothing, for some mysterious reason. And I've earned my own living since." No need to tell him of those terrible months those heart-rending experiences. He would understand, she knew, as probably no one she had ever known, but she couldn't tell him.

"You brave, dear little thing. You don't need to tell me what you have been through. Such an experience would be bad enough for one who had never known luxury. But you!"

"Yes, but I am thankful now for having had the experience. I was never so happy as I am now—"

"Now, Clara Dee? Is it possible that you could care for me?"

"I—why—I don't know, Don. I scarcely know you and you don't know me."

"I believe I do. When kindred souls meet, is time necessary for them to become acquainted? I love you so that nothing—nothing you have done nor nothing you could ever say or do, could change that."

She marveled at so beautiful a revelation. This was a love she had never known—the kind she had defended to Ivan—the love that was complete understanding, unquestioning faith, trust and protection—and she could not speak.

He wound the clover chain about her wrists, took them gently in his hands and drew her to her feet. "It's not fair to insist upon your answer, now, dear. Indeed, I want you to be very sure about it first. Let's dive once more and dress for supper."

She was glad for the respite. Her mind was a turmoil. Had she never known Winfield—it might be very easy to be sure about Don. She dressed with trembling fingers and walked slowly out to the machine, where he was waiting. He carried the picnic hamper over under the trees and helped her to arrange their supper on a linen cloth spread on the grass.

She exclaimed over the delicacies he had brought. "But you shouldn't have troubled so much for me. Who did all this for you?"

He beamed with satisfaction. "It wasn't trouble, my dear. Rather a joy. I supplied everything I could from my gardens and my mother provided the rest. You must meet my mother soon. You will love her, I know."

"I haven't a doubt," she agreed. "It must be very wonderful to have a mother."

There was salad and little iced cakes, dainty sandwiches, great luscious tomatoes, crisp radishroses, olives, pink-meated cantaloupes, downy yellow peaches, iced lemonade in a thermos jug. Their strenuous exercise had given them both a hearty appetite, and they ate in contented silence for awhile. Don was stretched on the grass beside her, his head supported with his left hand while he ate with the right.

"Shall we ride early in the morning?" he asked.

"Delightful. But where shall I get a horse?"

"I don't think Tom has one that would be suitable," he considered, "but I'll bring my saddle horse for you and ride one of our work horses, myself."

"Oh, no—that would be no pleasure for you."

"My dear—anything with you would be a pleasure—whether conditions were ideal or not." His eyes probed hers. "Is there some one else?" he asked with fear. When she did not instantly deny it, he exclaimed, "There can't be."

How could she tell him that her heart was somewhere in the wilds of Canada, perhaps, with a sad-eyed youth who stood alone in hip-boots in some swift stream, fishing for trout—that except for a cruel trick of fate, she should be there beside him "hand in hand." She couldn't. But what of her life? Must she always be lonely because she had sent him away forever? If this man did love her, if she could make him happy, if she could learn to love him, even if not with complete renunciation—would it be fair to him? He was offering her everything—a precious devotion—

"Oh, Don! tell me why life is so complicated," was all she said.

A shadow crossed his tanned face. "We all ask that question at some time in our lives; it has been asked for centuries, yet no one has ever found the answer for it. I suppose many of us complicate our own lives. There seems usually to be an inevitable fate for each of us, yet to a certain extent, we are masters of our own destinies."

"It seems to me that we are for the most part masters of our own lives, except in the matter of love; and that is of such supreme importance. You say you have waited for me through the years—I've come—but Don, I don't love you. I don't believe I ever could—and I like you very much."

"I shan't accept that for your answer, Clara Dee—you don't know yet. You can't. You see, you were not prepared for me, while I have been waiting for you. I know without your telling me, that there have been others before me. Which only makes it the more bewildering for you. It matters not to me who the others were—if only you can love me some day," he took her hand and kissed it tenderly, reverently.

TERRY ANSWERS CIRCULAR LETTER

In the first paragraph of a circular recently sent out by Mr. Taylor he states that he did not get a square deal during his term of office and has used an affidavit of the county clerk in an effort to try to prove this. This affidavit is pertaining to a transfer of $4,605.00. If you will read carefully the statement of Mr. John S. Baker as printed in his circular, you will see that there was not any transfer claimed to have been made and that the $4,605.99 mentioned was the part withheld from the SPECIAL ROAD MAINTENANCE fund for this precinct. You will note from reading the percentage of distribution furnished in Mr. Baker's statement that this was replaced by an increase in the Road & Bridge fund after I assumed the office, at which time a redistribution of percentage was made. This increase was 3 per cent of the total county levy.

Mr. Taylor makes the statement that I lost this money for the precinct. You will note from the explanation made by Mr. Taylor in his circular that this amount was held during his term of office, and you will also note that the increase in the Road & Bridge fund was after the new distribution was made after I assumed office. The money lost the precinct was lost during the administration of Mr. Taylor. Mr. Taylor intimates that Mr. Baker and myself arrange the distribution of the Road & Bridge fund to our own satisfaction. This is most absurd since any gain for my precinct is a loss to the other precincts. This distribution is made by agreement of the commissioners with the thought in mind of equalizing the funds of each precinct. The distribution of March 10, 1930, was made by agreement of all the commissioners. I consider it a compliment for Mr. Taylor to intimate that I am able to influence the commissioners' court and the county auditor.

In the second paragraph Mr. Taylor says that the funds were withheld without authority, and he was advised by an attorney that it was not legal. I quote below an order of election, setting this S. R. M. fund aside for the maintenance of gravel and concrete roads. This was the voice of the voter and did not require an order of the commissioners' court.

In the matter of returns of maintenance tax election: In Commissioners Court, December 3, 1921.

On motion duly made, seconded and carried, the court with all members present declared the result of the election to be that a majority of the vote cast were "for the tax" as shown by the returns of said election, said tax having been carried by a majority of 222 votes, further ordered 8 cents of said tax of 15 cents be applied to the maintenance of gravel and concrete roads and 7 cents of said amount be applied to the maintenance of the public dirt roads.

The above seems to be sufficient authority and legal since it is the voice of the people at an election.

It seems that Mr. Taylor was seeking advice from others instead of trying to work in harmony with the commissioners' court, even asking my advice in regard to resigning from the office.

He also makes the statement that the money was withheld so that he would not have any funds with which to work. The reason Mr. Taylor did not have any funds was because he spent $46,787.30 in cash and issued time warrants in the amount of $8,999.71 making a total of $55,787.01. This figure taken from the records of the county auditor's books and can be confirmed by him. There was also about $4,000.00 in current accounts unpaid. This amount was spent during 18 months of Mr. Taylor's administration.

Mr. Taylor makes the assertion that he could build the road as mapped out in his circular for the sum of $18,400.00. This is entirely without foundation and is a most absurd statement. The cost of maintaining this road will exceeding the above figure. The cost of building an all weather road will run from $12,000.00 to $15,000.00 per mile. This has been the experience of Lamar county during the road building program.

This statement of Mr. Taylor's is like most of the other statements he has made in this circular, they are misleading and absurd.

If you want economy and service, and an officer who can and will work in harmony with the commissioners' court, to the betterment of the precinct, I solicit your support.

Friends, excuse me for getting into this sort of campaign, but I feel that I must make these explanations in order that the people will not be misled by erroneous statements.

I am asking for this office on my record of economy and service rendered. I am appealing to the intelligence of the people and the voter. I am not running on my opponent's demerits and inefficiency.

I again ask that you will excuse this means of campaigning, and wish to especially thank those who are supporting me in this campaign and those who have supported me in the past, I also wish to thank you for the time given to reading this article.

Thanks,
GEORGE TERRY.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—A break of from $2.50 to $3 per bale occurred in cotton here Monday under a continuation of the recent selling movement, which appeared to find additional inspiration in reports of increasing receipts of new crop cotton in the south, relatively easy Liverpool cables, and reports of showers in Oklahoma and Arkansas.

December contracts broke to 10.95, or 56 points net lower, and closed at that figure, with the general market closing weak at net declines of 54 to 63 points.

Reports of rains in Oklahoma and Arkansas may have been a contributing factor on the decline, but, according to some of the local brokers, selling was based more largely upon an unfavorable view of the trade situation and apprehensions as to the effect of the increasing new crop movement, than upon anything in the immediate progress of the crop. Trading was active with considerable southern selling as well as local and Wall street selling in evidence, while the buying was attributed chiefly to the trade and covering of shorts.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18. (AP)—The cotton market was active Monday but the prices dropped to new low levels and October broke through the 11 cent line to 10.79. Very poor cables, rains in Oklahoma and Arkansas and hedge selling were the main depressing influences. After opening 14 to 26 points down, the market continued to ease off with only trifling rallies from time to time until after mid-session prices showed declines from the previous close of 89 to 42 points. Exports for the day were large totaling 43,130 bales of which Corpus Christi contributed 32,851 bales. The market continued to decline in the late trading making new lows at the end 54 to 56 points under Saturday's close. December broke through the 11 cent line to 10.99 the close was barely steady and at the botton showing net losses of 49 to 60 points today's low levels were the lowest since 1915.

Liverpool came in 11 to 13 points down and first trades here showed losses at the end of the first hour when October traded down to 11.10, and December to 11.30 or 17 to 25 points below Saturday's close.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Grain prices underwent a sharp all-around setback Monday, influenced largely by rains over corn fields in parts of Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas. Besides, big arrivals of newly harvested wheat at Minneapolis 1,250 cars today, led to increased selling of Chicago wheat future deliveries, and the United States wheat visible supply total piled up 8,519,000 bushels additional as compared with a week ago. Continued uncertainties relative to financing of the 1930 Canadian wheat crop tended also to pull values down.

Closing quotations on corn were unsettled, 2 3-8 3 1-4c a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Wheat closed heavy 2 1-4 2 7-8 cents down, oats 1 1-4 1 3-4 cents off.

Fort Worth Live Stock

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP)—Cattle salesmen collected mostly steady prices for all classes of slaughter and stocker cattle shown here Monday.

Light weight cake-feed steers of value to sell around $7. Butcher heifers were scattered from around $6.50 down. Some good fat cows were offered and these were due to sell around $5. A fairly good demand existed for low cutter cows from around $2.50 to $2.75, with meaty cutters listed up to $3. Some common light bulls sold from $3.25 to $4.

Some stocker yearlings moved out at $6, with stock heifers at $5.75. Stock steers ranged mostly from $4.50 to $5.75, with one load of good stocker calves moving at $7.10.

Packer buyers paid up to 7.10 for a load of good heavy calves. Bulk of the better grades of slaughter calves changed hands from 6.50 to $7. Cull sorts were peddled around $3 to $3.50.

Truck hogs sold at prices five to ten cents higher. Best truck butchers brought $9.55, with bulk of the better grades of 175 to 240 pound truck hogs selling from $9.40 to $9.50. Packing sows ruled strong, ranging from $7 to $7.25. Some good butcher pigs at $8 and stocker pigs at $7.50 appeared steady.

Sales of fat lambs at Fort Worth Monday were strong to 25c higher than last Friday's market. Other classes of sheep and lambs ruled steady. Good to choice fat lambs sold at $7.75 and fat yearlings ranged from $4.75 to $5.50. Good aged fat wethers were reported at $4 and feeder yearlings moved at $3.50.

Stock Market

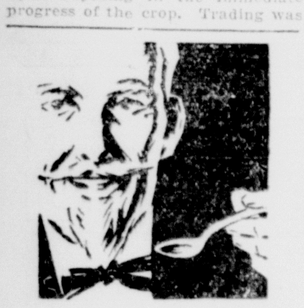

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Reactionary commodity markets encouraged the bear faction to apply further pressure to the stock market Monday, but again the market was found to have been hammered down about as far as it could go.

Stocks sold off sharply for a time in the morning, and a few individual issues developed acute weakness, but pivotal stocks were well supported. No general public liquidation could be shaken loose, so share prices rose almost as quickly as they fell when shorts tried to buy back their stocks. The market closely followed the pattern of Saturday. Most of the activity originated with floor traders, and the day's transactions aggregated only 1,413,610 shares.

The price index of 90 leading shares showed a net loss for the day of less than a point. The amusement shares were selected by bears as a vulnerable spot, and a few issues in this group declined easily, but they regained about half their loss before the finish.

Pile Sufferers

You can only get quick and permanent relief by removing the cause—congestion of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Nothing but an internal medicine can do this—that's why cutting and salves fail. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Druggists everywhere now sell it, and The Palace Drug Store guarantees money back if HEM-ROID does not end Piles in any form.—Adv.

Mother of Four Babies

"Although I am only 22 years old, I have four babies to care for. Before my first baby was born my mother urged me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was so terribly weak. I had to lie down four or five times a day. After three bottles I could feel a great improvement. I still take the Vegetable Compound whenever I need it for it gives me strength to be a good mother to my family."—Mrs. Vern L. Dennings, 510 Johnson Street, Saginaw, Michigan.

Very Attractive

All that little Mrs. Jeanette Rice of Houston needed to grow to be such an attractive girl was to calm down her nerves and get her stomach in shape so she could eat. She says, "Mother had a time with me when I was going to school. I was feverish and weak so much of the time and would not eat. She started giving me Herbine and from then on life has been entirely different for me."

Herbine is a vegetable liquid which helps the stomach and bowels do what they would if they were in the condition they should be. For this reason, when you take Herbine you relieve the gas which causes constipation, biliousness, indigestion, sour stomach, sick headaches, and help build solid flesh on your scrawny figure.

Former Lamar County Man Is Back for Visit

S. B. Price, with his young son and his mother, Mrs. L. L. Price, arrived Monday from Vicksburg, Miss., for a short visit in this vicinity. Mr. Price, a native of Brookston, is associated with the advertising department of the recently constructed $7,000,000 bridge over the Mississippi river at Vicksburg.

Mr. Price said Monday that since the opening of the bridge May 1 an average of 400 tourist cars daily have crossed it, in addition to some 10,000 passenger and freight cars monthly. The bridge was built by Percy B. Pennybacker.

The bridge is located on highway 80, a coast to coast road that enters Texas near Marshall. The road passes the Vicksburg National Park, and parallels the National cemetery at Vicksburg, where more than 16,000 Union soldiers are buried.

While in Lamar county Mr. Price attended school at Brookston, his teacher being Mrs. Mack Smiley. Later he attended the old Paris Commercial College, then operated by Prof. J. G. Wilson.

This visit was Mr. Price's second to Paris since the fire of 1916. The party will leave Tuesday for Marshall and other east Texas points before returning to Vicksburg.

Crowd Attends Home Coming at Rockford Sunday

A crowd of 500 or more was present at the homecoming services held at Rockford Sunday. Following a sermon by Rev. R. A. Walker of Merkle, former pastor at Rockford, in the morning, dinner was spread in the shade of the grove of oaks which surrounds the church.

The afternoon program began about 2 o'clock, and consisted of a number of recitations, old-time songs, and talks by the older settlers.

Several former residents of the community were present from various sections of the state. Among those present were members of the first settlers in the Rockford community. It is planned to continue the custom of having a home coming service each year.

"YOU COULD NEVER SWITCH ME TO ANOTHER OIL, SINCE I LEARNED HOW CONOCO PERFORMED IN THOSE PIKE'S PEAK AND RACING TESTS"

The story of Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil, as told in the advertising, and proven on Pike's Peak, at the Indianapolis Speedway and Altoona Flag Day races, has paralleled the story which this oil has been telling in hundreds of thousands of motors.

Conoco's original announcement stated that the virtues of the Germ Process were so radically different from any other refining method, that this lubricant would outperform other popular and nationally known American motor oils. You were told that the metal-penetrative safety factor of this oil was so vital that the film in the "pores" of the motor metal would protect your engine in emergencies where other oils have failed.

Well, it has all been proven in the past 8 months. In addition to sensational achievements on Pike's Peak and at the Indianapolis and Altoona races, scores of satisfactory tests have been made on private cars by enthusiastic users. Now that summer heat is here to intensify and increase motor heat, remember that one of Conoco Germ-Processed oil's outstanding characteristics is heat resistance.

We invite you to begin using this first really new oil today. Just say "Germ-Processed" . . . . at the Sign of the Conoco Red Triangle.

POINT NO. 2

"That a reduction in the rate of wear occurring during the use of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil over that occurring with the other oils used to the extent of 76.4 per cent was shown during these tests."
